To Whom It May Concern

Mawlana Bhashani Science and Technology University (MBSTU) as a body is committed to promoting physical fitness, sports participation, and overall well-being in the local community. In line with this commitment, the University, through its Department of Physical Education, actively shares its sports facilities, including well-maintained fields and courts, with nearby schools and colleges (e.g., Islamic University Boy's School, Islamic University Vocational School, Rani Din-Moni Primary School, and Mawlana Bhashani Ideal College, Tangail) for practice sessions, training programs, inter-school tournaments, and sports events.

The University encourages collaboration through joint training sessions, workshops, and seminars on sports science, health, and performance evaluation. Experts from the Physical Education Department also provide guidance and mentorship to local coaches and physical education teachers, supporting skill development and strengthening the regional sports ecosystem. Through these initiatives, the University fosters community ties, inspires young athletes to pursue higher education in sports science, and bridges the gap between academic research and real-world athletic practice. Overall, this partnership nurtures a culture of physical fitness, discipline, and lifelong learning across schools, colleges, and the University.

These initiatives reflect the University's policy to foster community engagement, youth development, and overall health and well-being, contributing to the broader Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) of ensuring healthy lives and promoting well-being for all ages. This collaborative effort also supports the development of a healthy generation prepared to compete globally.
